To Our Valued Customers:

Due to component unavailability, we are discontinuing the Tone Commander 6200-series ISDN phone products listed below. Our newer 8600-series products are not being discontinued and can be used as functional replacements for the 6200-series products. These products have the same operational characteristics, but in a newer case design. For each discontinued product, the 8600-series functional equivalent is listed.
